

Applications

Feintool spearheads the quest for new application areas

Feintool systematically seeks out new areas of application and novel applications for sheet metal components. This is firstly a matter of developing better and cheaper functional parts and assemblies for manufacturers in a wide range of different sectors. It is also about expanding the market for our customers and ourselves, thus protecting future markets.

